PRESIDENTS MESSAGE

Erich Kohl

Dear Members:

We have made it to the month October which is possibly our clubs busiest month thanks to Oktoberfest. Speaking of Oktoberfest, preparations for our event continue in earnest. We are looking for people to help set up and breakdown and there is still a need for various shift work volunteers as well. We ask anyone willing and able to please volunteer because your club needs your help.

Friday the 11th we will be celebrating German American day, with music provided by the Edelweiss Chorus and the Hafenkappele. At the upcoming general meeting, the slate of candidates wishing to serve as a director, will be nominated/ presented for your consideration prior to the election to be held in December.

Liebe Mitglieder,

Wir haben den Monat Oktober erreicht, der dank des Oktoberfests wahrscheinlich der geschäftigste Monat unseres Clubs ist. Apropos Oktoberfest: Die Vorbereitungen für unsere Veranstaltung laufen auf Hochtouren. Wir suchen Leute, die beim Auf- und Abbau helfen, und es werden auch noch verschiedene freiwillige Helfer für die einzelnen Arbeits-Schichten benötigt. Wir bitten alle, die dazu bereit und in der Lage sind, sich freiwillig zu melden, denn Ihr Club braucht Ihre Hilfe. Am Freitag, den 11. Oktober feiern wir den Deutsch-Amerikanischen Tag mit Musik vom Edelweiß Chorus und der Hafenkapelle. Bei der kommenden Monatsversammlung werden Ihnen die Kandidaten, für die im Dezember stattfindende Direktoren-Wahl, vorgestellt.

60 YEAR ANNIVERSARY

Time flies when you're having fun! This year, the German American Social Club is celebrating its 60th anniversary. In 1964, local restaurant owner Willy Gruetzenbach worked hard to bring Cape Coral's German Americans together to honor their heritage and socialize among friends. The club started with 34 original members meeting at the Cape Coral Yacht Club, hosting dances and events to raise money for the club. Before long, with over 300 members, the club began searching for a spot to build its new home.

In 1969, the club found the perfect piece of property and began constructing its clubhouse in the "middle of nowhere" on Pine Island Road. After raising over $124,000 from contributing members, the club broke ground on its original clubhouse in 1974. In the same year, the club introduced its annual New Year's Eve Ball, the first of many formal events the club would hold in the new Von Steuben Hall.

The 1970s were very prosperous for the club, as it recruited the city's number one attraction, Waltzing Waters, to relocate to Pine Island Road site. In return for renting space from the club, members worked as volunteers at the attraction until the partnership ended in 1982. By the mid-1970s, the club's membership had grown to over 700. In 1976, seeing the popularity of the club, a member and former Cape Coral Mayor Bernie Langguth suggested that it host a celebration of the nation's bicentennial. The successful event made the club stand out, making it an important community staple over the next 45-plus years.

After the successful 1970s, the 1980s took the club to an entirely different level. Reaching club membership of over 1,000 in 1982, by 1986 the number was well over 1,300. Starting in 1982, the German American Social Club began hosting an annual Bierfest, which was so popular, it was held once a month from January through April. Given the crowds they attracted, far-sighted member and future president Klaus Kohl proposed hosting an annual Oktoberfest, an event widely popular in Germany. Many would consider the idea a no-brainer today, but it was far from it then. The original referendum only passed after months of negotiating in 1985, and in 1986, the club opened its gates for the first Cape Coral Oktoberfest. It met with instant success and community recognition! So much so that the club had to install additional power lines to accommodate the crowds and clear 10 acres of its land for event parking. Today, well over 40,000 people attend the two-weekend annual festival, becoming Florida's largest Oktoberfest.

ANZEIGER

In 1992, under President Uwe Kellner, murals were added to the front wall of the clubhouse, painted by distinguished German artist and member Josef Mahler. Also in 1992, Bodo Degenhardt fabricated the crests of German cities. They can be seen on the west wall inside the Von Steuben Hall. Mahler also created the painted carvings of Tracht representing the areas of the crests positioned above them. In 1993, Kellner and his team extensively upgraded the Edelweiss Hall based on Mahler blueprints. Additional Mahler artwork is proudly illustrated on the walls behind the upholstered benches in the Edelweiss Hall.

Through the years, the German American Social Club has made a true impact on the community, building strong ties and far-reaching connections. It has remained a successful staple in Cape Coral, offering festivals throughout the year to an eager Southwest Florida crowd, except for forced shutdowns that everyone suffered during the COVID-19 crisis and after Hurricane Ian.

The German American Social Club has proudly given back a portion of profits from its events to the community, annually donating around $30,000 to area clubs and non-profit organizations, thus hundreds of thousands of dollars given to worthy causes over the past 60 years.

Each of the Club's achievements is built on the tireless efforts of its committed members who, over the years, have pitched in funds, countless hours of hard work, and their hearts, to make it what it stands for today – Cape Coral's Best Social Club.
